New Radio Programme

'Campus Capers' To Hold Auditions

The McGill Radio Workshop announced yesterday afternoon that the auditions for the new comedy show 'Campus Capers' will be held on Friday at CKAC studios, 980 St. Catherine St. West from 6-8:30 p.m. These auditions are open to all students at the university whether they have been members of the Radio Workshop heretofore or not. These auditions will be under the supervision of Gerald Charness, director of the McGill radio workshop.

In charge of this program are Conrad Shatner and Johnny Pier. These students have been jointly producing the McGill Speaks show on Saturday evenings. This new comedy show had been in the formative stages for the past few months and will deal with the campus life of Buzz Farrell the typical all-Canadian, 'Joe College' student. His cronies, 'book-worm' Rodney Blair, 'Big Man on the Campus' Hal Brock and 'Betty Coed' Pat Peterson help him in and out of the various situations which arise on any college campus—in this case fictitious Burton College.

Plans are underway at present whereby the Radio Committee is attempting to present this show over one of Montreal's stations for an eight-week series beginning early next month.

For the past two months a group of script writers has been meeting weekly under the chairmanship of Conrad Shatner. At present four scripts have been completed and the remainder are in the final stages. For music during the show the Campus Capers program will feature Roy Dohn and his Collegians in a fourteen piece orchestra. The boys in the band are all McGill students who are members of the Westernaires orchestra which just recently became 'unionized.'

This program is the first aspect of the development of the new Radio Committee which has taken supervision of the various fields of that activity on the campus. It also marks the end of the development of the first phase of the Radio Workshop program. For the past four years the Workshop has been working energetically for a program of their own and with this goal already in view the Workshop executive feels that the doors are opening on bigger and better things.

These programs will be augmented by a series of radio instruction courses by prominent Montreal radio personalities, which will be open to all those interested.

This broadcast series does not constitute a cessation of other sections of Radio Workshop activity. It will be augmented by the various recordings of dramatic scripts which has constituted a large part of Workshop activity up till the present. In this manner all those interested in Radio, other than those on the comedy show, regardless of experience or field of interest will have an opportunity to work under expert guidance.

'Gen Nite'

Locknan, Code Address Meeting Advise Students on Civil Service

Union Ballroom Scene of Series

Tonight at 8 p.m. in the Union Grill Room the second in the current series of "Gen Nites", sponsored by the Arts and Science Undergraduates' Society Education Committee will be held. "Careers in Public Service" will be the topic of discussion, and the speakers will be Mr. C. J. Locknan and Mr.

Vistors Will Interview Students

To make their visit to the University of greater benefit to the students, Mr. C. J. Locknan and Mr. R. B. Code, of the Civil Service Commission, will hold office hours today and tomorrow, as well as lecturing at "Gen Nite".

Mr. Locknan will interview Arts, Commerce, and Law students who are thinking of making their University training a foundation for employment in the Public Service of Canada. For these students a great variety of personnel and public relations work, as well as administrative posts, are open.

He will be in the Council Room of the Arts Building from 10 to 12:30 this morning, and at the same time tomorrow morning. This afternoon he will be at Purvis Hall from 2:30 to 4:30, and tomorrow afternoon at the same hours he will be in the Arts Building Council Room.

Mr. Code is chief examiner to the Commission for Engineering and Science appointments. He will keep the same office hours today as Mr. Locknan, and will be available to students interested in Engineering and pure and applied science appointments after graduating in the Faculty Room of the Engineering Building. He will see students tomorrow afternoon between 2:30 and 4:30.

It is expected that many students will take advantage of this opportunity to inform themselves about the positions offered by the "largest employer in the Dominion," Gen Nite Committee members state.

Armed Forces Drain Scientific Reserves

The need for research workers was stressed in an address delivered recently by Dr. M. H. Trytten, director of the American Office of Scientific Personnel. He warned that large-scale training programs of the armed forces in colleges were threatening the nation's supply of potential scientists.

The attractive opportunities offered by the Armed Forces is absorbing a large percentage of the best youths of the country who are physically qualified, and who might otherwise have been the trained scientists of the mid-1950's. Dr. Trytten further stated.

He emphasized that the need for a number of competent research scientists was a more important element than the number of ships at sea or tanks and guns in storage.

'Man Is Good' Theory Blasted By Fieldhouse

The "fantastic assumption" that man is naturally good was blasted yesterday by Prof. Fieldhouse, Kingsford Prof. of History. He was speaking to a combined meeting of the Liberal and Political Science clubs held in the Union Music Room, which was jam-packed, by the rapt and silent audience.

As an example of this "insidious theory," Prof. Fieldhouse cited the people who hold that a small wicked minority, be they priests, kings, capitalists or diplomats, are the cause of all the world's ills. Blaming everything on the "Unspecified they," these people believe that the mass of the population is good. He further stated that man born of woman is a mixture of good and evil, and that evil institutions in society are a demonstration of the evil inherent in human nature.

Prof. Fieldhouse likened present day man, fed on this essential goodness "nonsense," to a child who has been brought up to have everything he wants. When this child goes into the world he does not get what he wants, and he is bewildered. Similarly man, shocked into realization of evil by two World Wars, is rattled. He would not have been so in other ages, which recognized the fact that there is much evil in man and the world.

Speaking on his announced topic "Liberal Democracy," Prof. Fieldhouse defined Liberal as a non party term. He then said that the argument for Liberal Democracy was not that the man in the street is right, but that whoever is put in charge is wrong. "No one can be trusted with power from Lance Corporals to Dictators," he continued; as ex-servicemen present voiced their agreement.

Summing up his previous arguments, Prof. Fieldhouse concluded that progress is not automatic, but depends upon consistent moral effort.

L.P.P. Meet To Celebrate Centennial

"One Hundred Years of Marxism" is the subject of a talk that will be given by Mr. Stanley Ryerson, National Educational Director of the Labor Progressive Party.

The meeting is being held under the auspices of the McGill L.P.P. club, and will take place on Friday at 5 p.m. in the Union Ball-Room.

This topic was chosen to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Marxism, which came into being with the appearance of the famous "Communist Manifesto" written by Karl Marx and Frederick Engels.

Mr. Ryerson has had extensive experience in the labor movement, and as an author and teacher. He is a graduate of the University of Toronto and the Paris Sorbonne. At present he is a member of the National Executive of the L.P.P.

Mr. Ryerson is a leading Canadian Marxist theoretician. In his talk he will outline the dynamics of social change, and will show why Socialism is the next stage of society.

The club extends a cordial invitation to all students to attend.

Theologs Hit Coed Hopes For Pulpit

Yesterday at one o'clock Stanley Smith and Bert King of Theology defeated Florence Trotter and Pam Morley of R.V.C. in the first inter-faith debate of this term. The subject was: "Resolved that women should be admitted to the ministry."

Florence Trotter, argued that although the ministry was originally given to men because of their capabilities, women are now equally capable. Stanley Smith refuted this by saying that women have a definite role in the church, and hence cannot be in the ministry as well. Pam Morley then claimed that women are capable of carrying both jobs. Bert King then wound it up by giving definite examples of a woman minister having divided interests.

The judges stated that the debate was of a very high calibre, and gave the decision to the negative on the grounds that its argument was co-ordinated better.

'Forge Day' Is On Friday

Tomorrow FRIDAY, is FORGE DAY. First editions of THE FORGE will go on sale at 9 o'clock in every building on the campus and also in The Montreal Book Room and in Poole's.

This year, the editorial board of THE FORGE has succeeded in turning out a truly different magazine. They have dressed it up in a new cover, changed the form and layout, and have picked what they considered the best contributions to fill its pages.

One of the most important factors in putting out any magazine is cost. But, due to expert handling on the part of the editorial board, costs have been kept down in order that THE FORGE might be bought for only Twenty-five cents! So, tomorrow is FORGE DAY. First come first served!

Dawson Student Society Plan Special General Meeting Feb.

January students will have an opportunity to study the Dawson College student society's organization next week, when the first general meeting of the new year is held. It was revealed today by Council President R. C. Gudgeon. The meeting will be held on Thursday evening, February 6 in Theatre One at 7:00 p.m., and listed on the agenda are reports from the Students' Council committees, as well as the introduction of any business which may be presented. New elections are to be held in March and it is therefore imperative that the new students learn of the student mechanism, it was further pointed out.

To be considered on the agenda will be reports from Social, House, and Mess Committees. Besides reviewing their efforts since the last general meeting, the committees will also have several new proposals to make to the student body.

"All business of the Students' Society presented will be considered," said W. D. Hilliard, "and we hope to have a large student attendance for this all-important meeting."

Religious Film Shows Superb Science Shots

By TOM BIRD

Yesterday in Room 105 of the Chemistry Building IVCF and SCM presented the film "The God of Creation". This film was produced under the Auspices of the Moody Bible Institute by Dr. I. A. Moon as the first in a series of "Sermons from Science."

The film was produced to emphasize the value of God to the individual as opposed to any secular explanation of life; however whatever their religious opinions might be, this is certainly a film worth seeing.

The picture first explains its purpose, then attempts to find God through examination of the astronomical and the microscopic. In its attempt, it makes use of the 100 inch telescope at Mount Wilson, (peers) through a microscope with a technicolor camera, and watches clouds, plants, and insects change and grow through the use of time-lapse photography.

By the use of enormous figures and the idea of light-years it impresses the audience with the vastness of the known universe. It next moves to the phenomena of photo-synthesis and shows in some superb colour shots this process in action. Then follows some time-lapse photography of clouds. Clouds are beautiful at ordinary speeds, especially at sunset, but to see them rolling, bounding and seething across the sky is like seeing a plane in the air after only seeing it on the ground. The concluding sequence shows the development of a butterfly from a caterpillar.

The music that goes with the film is rather obvious and the picture

Varsity to Hold First Model Parliament

(By Canadian University Press.) University of Toronto, following last year's proposal, has approved the formation of a model parliament, the first session of which will be held in February.

The resolution under discussion is that the Dominion Government should have the power to amend the Canadian constitution. The Liberal Club on the Campus will act as the Government while the Conservatives will be the opposition. Besides these, all parties will have the opportunity of participating.

Basketball, Badminton, Gym Contests Offered At 2nd Athletics Festival

Enthusiastic Choral Group Sparked by College Spirit

By FRANK GILMORE

Passers-by Divinity Hall last Tuesday evening were serenaded by the melodious voices of the McGill Choral Society singing "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here".

As a new departure from their regular routine of weekly Tuesday five o'clock practices, the choristers decided to sponsor a series of social events so that the members might have more than a singing acquaintance with each other.

Among their activities last fall they sponsored a supper for the society members which was held in the Union Grill room, followed by dancing and a lively sing-song. A trip to Macdonald College for a pre-Christmas concert served to introduce McGill students to the Mac campus, and was terminated by dancing and refreshments. The latest venture was originally to be a skating party but due to the fact that there just wasn't any ice that part of the agenda had to be left out.

After one of the most strenuous practices in the Society's history the members proceeded to push back the chairs and dance. To take care of the preponderance of sopranos and altos, students from the various men's residences were only too happy to volunteer to compensate for the lack of basses and tenors.

After plentiful refreshment, 20 per cent. of the total membership of 280, volunteered to wash the dishes! The kitchen was jammed with dish-towel wielding vocalists. For spiritual sustenance, "Swing Low Sweet Chariot" and other favorite songs were rendered, mingling with the strains of "Old Butter-milk Sky" and "A Girl in Calico" from the room where the others were dancing.

At midnight the party broke up as the choir sang "Auld Lang Syne", with the hope expressed by all those attending that many similar parties will be held in the future.

Advance publicity was in error, and no card playing took place during the evening.

Critics of N.F.C.U.S. Requested To Turn Out For Meeting Today

By NFCUS

As announced yesterday in The Daily the general meeting of the McGill Committee of the National Federation of Canadian University Students will be held this afternoon at five p.m. in the Grill-room of the McGill Union.

Some question has been raised among different groups on the Campus concerning the political complexion of the McGill Delegation to the National Conference held at Toronto in December last. It is suggested by the N.F.C.U.S. Committee-Chairman (an appointee of the Students' Executive Council) for the forthcoming year, that representatives of these ill-informed groups be present at this meeting so that they may form judgments on the basis of personal information rather than on that of self-interested misrepresentation.

At the peak of N.F.C.U.S. success it made enduring contributions to the lives of students on the individual camp; among these were: 1) the securing of reduced railway fares for students at vacation times; of which the reduced Christmas rates still remain.

2) the securing of a 33-1-3 per cent. reduction in the cost of athletic equipment (representing a saving of over $5,000.00 annually to the University athletic programs)

3) organization of the Canadian University Press Service which continues to be of inestimable value in the production of the local University papers across the Dominion.

4) organization of various inter-Varsity Athletic, Debating, and Drama leagues, scholarships, student tours and many other student enterprises.

In later years, prior to its complete suspension during the War years it was felt that the organization might have descended to a level of a three-day smoker for the University Student Society Presidents. The hard work accomplished by the Conference held in December, no less than that of McGill's own committee, belies any suggestion that such will be its fate this year.

Students with interests extending beyond the comparatively narrow range of the local McGill campus are strongly urged to be present at the meeting this afternoon in the Grill-room to lend their aid towards the successful participation by this University in the forthcoming year in the national students organization of the country—the National Federation of Canadian University Students.

Commerce Forms New Debating Club

The newly formed Commerce Debating Club held its first meeting in the Union Ballroom yesterday afternoon at 5 p.m. with a turnout representative of all four years.

Plans were discussed for the coming debate against Medicine, and the following were elected to office: President—Charlie Butterworth; Vice-Presidents—Bob Paterson and Lloyd Rogers; Secretary—Ed Greene.

The purpose of the Club is to stimulate an interest in public speaking. The keynote will be participation in which all members will have an opportunity to prepare and deliver short dissertations on items of topical interest. In this way it is hoped to discover and develop the best material for inter-faculty debating.

One of the most valuable assets of a successful businessman is his ability to stand up and talk in public. The next regular weekly meeting will be held in the Union Ballroom at five o'clock, on Wednesday, Feb. 5.

Dawsonites To Debate Ottawa Foreign Policy

"Canada's Foreign Policy" is to be the topic for discussion this evening, as the Dawson Political Forum holds another of its bi-weekly meetings. This forum is to mark the closing date for the formation of political groups to take part in this series as well.

The agenda calls for representatives of each of the following groups to speak in this respective order: Labour Progressive Party, Liberal, Progressive Conservative, and the Cooperative Commonwealth Federation, with the Speaker of the House being from the L.P.P. club. C. J. Bowie-Reed is to preside over the forum.

All students can participate and club officials urge all interested to attend. The agenda is as follows: 7:00 to 7:15—Business and appointment of the Speaker. 7:15 to 7:50—Main speakers for each of the Political Clubs. (8 min. each.) 7:50 to 8:20—Speakers from the floor. (3 min. each.) 8:20 to 8:40—Rebuttal speeches from the Political Clubs. (5 min. each.) 8:40 to 9:30—Questions and answers.

Bigger and better than ever is the motif of this Saturday's Athletics Night. Not satisfied with the tremendous success of the last Athletics Night, the committee is planning one of the largest sports extravaganzas ever displayed.

Three orchestras will provide music for dancing after the athletics portion is over. If you don't care for one orchestra, try another. The highlight of the evening will be the McGill-Toronto basketball game. The McGill five are at peak form after having defeated the highly touted University of New Brunswick team last week.

Half time at the basketball game will see a fast exhibition of badminton with former world champion Doug Grant and Len Schlemm, past Canadian champion, taking on the McGill stalwarts, Bart Love and Ron Dusseault.

A very close fight is expected when Sammy Batt's gym team from T.C.S. take on McGill's six on the bars and horses. T.C.S. recently came close to beating the U. of T.'s championship gym team.

Half way through the gymnastics display there will be an exhibition of championship ping pong, put on by former provincial champion J. J. Desjardins, well known in local tennis circles, and Winston Mahlabir, former McGill Champion.

Another point of interest will be the squash courts where McGill's famous squash team plays M.I.T. McGill is the favourite due to the previous trimming she gave M.I.T. last term.

The boxing gym which was crowded to overflowing last Athletics Night will again feature crowd pleasing boxing as McGill takes on the A.A.U. Stars.

Reservations for tickets, for the event can be obtained from John Wright. These reservations will only be taken in groups. Phone John Wright. Daytime: PL 6773; Night time: WE 1589.

'The Big 3' Topic of Talk By Fieldhouse

Professor Fieldhouse, Kingsford Professor of History, will address the International Relations Club on Monday night, at 8 o'clock in the McGill Union.

The topic of the talk will be "The Big Three and Europe". Professor Fieldhouse, an authority on modern history of Europe will present the problems with which the world is being faced today in the light of the relationship existing among the big three powers. An expert in European diplomatic history, he will trace the sequence of the developments which preceded our era.

Professor Fieldhouse, beside being an outstanding historian, is well entitled to speak on the subject as he had himself been in Europe for a long time and had done his research work on the spot.

Students, regardless of whether they are members of the International Relations Club or not, are invited to attend this meeting, the third in a series of lectures prepared for this session's activities. It will be remembered that the first speaker presented by the I.R.C. was Dr. Albert Roper, Secretary General of the Provisional International Civil Aviation Organization, while the second meeting was sponsored jointly with the Political Economy Club, where more than 300 students jammed the Grill Room and its outskirts to hear Dr. Higgins, Prof. Fieldhouse, Prof. Laviolette and Dr. Stern discuss the Causes of War.

DAWSON
"Canada Needs Responsible Government" is to be the topic of Bill Archer's speech at Dawson College, Monday evening. Bill Archer, who is honoring in Political Science and Economics, was Prime Minister at the last Model Parliament, and is president of the Progressive Conservative Club of McGill. All members of the Dawson Political Forum are especially invited to attend. The meeting is to be held in Room 12, Dawson Hall at 8:00 p.m.

LESLIE BUZZELL

R. C. Code, Officers in the Civil Service Commission of Canada. The chairman of the meeting will be Mr. Leslie Buzzell, President of the Montreal Branch, McGill Graduates Society, and Mr. O. E. Ault, who is Director of Personnel Selection in the Civil Service Commission, will answer questions at the end of the speeches.

The speakers will outline the numerous opportunities offered in the Federal Service. These opportunities, state spokesmen for the committee, will be of great interest, not only to students in Arts and Science, but also to those in the faculty of Engineering.

There are many openings for chemists, physicists, civil, mechanical and electrical engineers, and the officers will point out the obstacles that may arise with suggestions as to how to overcome them. The three men are very well qualified to answer any questions that may be asked. Mr. Ault has had much experience in education and leadership training both in the army and in civilian life. He is now a prominent member in the Canadian Psychological Association, Canadian Association for Adult Education, Canada and Newfoundland Educational Association, and the United Nations Society. Mr. Locknan is a Public Relations Officer, and Mr. Code is the Chief Examiner for Engineering and Science appointments in the Civil Service Commission.

Toward Campus Radio

While McGill has kept pace with sister-universities in many phases of student activity, there has been a prolonged period of drought on the question of a campus radio outlet — perhaps one of the most interesting spheres of action both from the point of view of education and extra-curricular activity. Radio has been an oft-discussed topic on the campus and last year it appeared as though something concrete would develop along the lines of a McGill station. However, little has been heard and the question is now shelved until more definite results can be had.

Nevertheless, students interested in radio work and in McGill programs have been active since early fall and the work has not been in vain. Recently, a special committee of the Students Executive Council was set up to control and regulate student radio broadcasting, both from campus outlets, when and if that hope crystallizes, and from commercial radio stations.

Until this committee was set up, no student body was responsible for the material and presentation of the broadcasts involving McGill, other than the regular University authorities who have the final word about all such matters of public relations. Now, with the new group to serve as a guide, the McGill Speaks program, any efforts of the Choral Society or similar group, the newest venture — depicting college life based on activities and situations in and around the University as well as any other radio attempt will first have to ensure a high standard to prevent any poor program from blocking future progress in this field.

While this is a step in the right direction, it is the ultimate hope of the committee and of all those interested in McGill radio that great strides can be made to bring McGill near the top of the list of colleges noted for their fine efforts in that direction. Contacts have been made and will be continued with the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System, an American body enfolded all radio units attached to campuses throughout the States and in parts of Canada.

The possibilities of radio on campus are, of course, tremendous. Considering only some, we note a potential course in radio dramatics, reporting, etcetera. The outlet, along with others across this country and in the U.S. could serve as one of the most active of unifying agents — furthering ideas of NECUS, ISS as well as an exchange news items. The field of sports, too, can be included — for a broadcast of athletic events will serve to bring the various competitions closer to the students.

The first move has been taken. There are others to follow in the course of the next few months. The committee is to be congratulated on their efforts to date. But a small group alone can't be expected to carry the battle. It must have the interest and cooperation of fellow-students. Only by a unified effort can the benefits of campus radio result — benefits in which each of us will have a share.—A.K.

SALVATORI BACCALONI
.....Basso

Salvatori Baccaloni, the Metropolitan's jolly, 320 pound, basso buffo has been a favorite with Montreal's opera going public during the five years he has been making appearances here. These visits have included his famous portrayals of Leporello, Don Giovanni's comic servant, the drunken monk, Varlaam, in Boris Godounov, and, most recently, his famous portrayal of the scheming Dr. Bartolo in the Barber of Seville.

Mr. Baccaloni's concert on the sixth of February will be of special interest, as it will be his first solo appearance locally. On other occasions he has sung with other famous artists such as John Charles Thomas, Bidu Sayo, and his famous countryman Ezio Pinza.

Mr. Baccaloni, for many years a specialist in comic operatic roles made his early appearances in the more melodramatic parts in the repertory. He changed his style on the advice of Arturo Toscanini. He was born in Rome forty-seven years ago and started to sing in the Sistine Choir there at the age of six. On the insistence of his parents who wanted him to utilize his talent for drawing by becoming an architect he entered the Academy of Fine Arts in Rome. In 1920, after a period of military service, he graduated with a degree in architecture.

Presently, he abandoned his drawing board and enrolled as a pupil of the baritone, Giuseppe Kaschmann, a member of the original Metropolitan Opera Company. He was soon on the operatic stage singing a number of varied basso parts.

Toscanini, in advising him to specialize in comic roles, told him that these roles were customarily sung by elderly singers whose voices had left them, but were better suited to a younger man with a robust voice.

Before making his Metropolitan debut in the 1940-41 season, Mr. Baccaloni had made numerous appearances at the La Scala opera house in Milan. He spent a season at the Teatro Colon in Buenos Aires, and spent a summer touring America with his own company. His voice may be heard on the recordings of some of the Glyndebourne festival operas. Mr. Baccaloni's debut was made in a notable revival of the opera Don Pasquale, and his portrayal of the lovesick, crotchety, old bachelor has been one of the Metropolitan's great drawing cards ever since.

The basso attributes his great bulk to his choice of parts, which makes it unnecessary for him to preserve a hero's physique, as well as to the cooking of his Bulgarian wife.

The Rake's Progress
By Mulligan

Well-fortified both liquidly and materially, the wily Hibou sat down in the middle of St. Catherine street and began to brood upon his next course of action. As two street-cars telescoped into each other, and a cacophony of horns serenaded him with great noise, it at last occurred to his mighty brain that the mysterious stranger had entrusted him with a paper, on which numerous hieroglyphics were imprinted. Scrambling into the back of a passing fire reel, the Owl settled down on a pile of 4-inch hose and began to decipher same. Thrown off as the vehicle lurched around a sharp corner, the Owl landed with great thud into a box erected by the city, which bore the apt words "decheis-rubbish" stencilled thereon. Undaunted, the Owl rose phoenix-like from the bottom of the bin, festooned with copies of "Hush", the "Racing Form Gazette" and banana peels; replaced his shattered horn-rims; and tottered off in the direction of McGill. Somehow, his intuition told him that there lay the solution of his immediate problem, and that once he had regained the safety of the green fields and the three nudes sporting in their little dell beside the arts building, that all would go well.

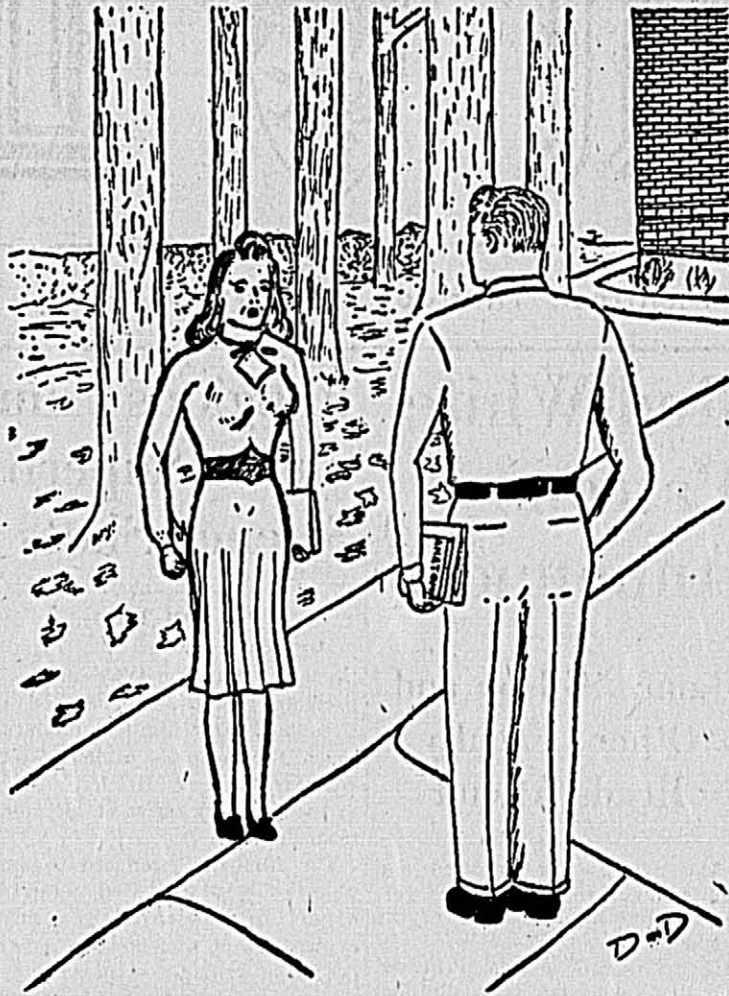

Bursting into the lab demonstration of Genetics 99, the Owl listened avidly for several moments to an interesting expose of the love life of the common tadpole; then, ill-breeding and his cups getting the better of him, he asked a rather lewd and utterly irrelevant question to the demonstrator. Forcibly expelled from this class, he meandered down to the dissecting room, where a group of freshettes were busily prodding and probing into the usual carp's heads. Mistaking the fish odour, and being somewhat overcome by all the energy expended through being kicked out upstairs, the Owl blundered through nibbling at a month-old specimen, under the delusion that entrées were now being served. Several minutes later, two internes rushed into the room in response to the alarm call, and proceeded to dehydrate the Owl of several ounces of formaldehyde and seventeen quarts of beer.

ROMANCE....

...on St. Mary's Lake

Evening with its silent beauty begins to envelope the little lake. The cheery breezes of the day no longer break the mirror surface, now reflecting the tinted sky. The heavy forests rising from the darkened shore, cast long shadows that bind them to the water. Stately poplar and proud birch lean over the waters to catch their reflection, while the low lying elm dips its leaves to touch the cool surface. Below them, below the mirror surface of the water, glides the gamet of all the fish, the red or speckled trout.

A sleek canoe slides gently into the water, two fishermen softly take their places, then out over the still waters they move. The paddle whippers faintly to the water then rests. The fishermen select their flies, soak their trout leads, and prepare for the trout rise soon to come. The heavens hold themselves watching and waiting, with only the occasional whistle of the Canada Bird to be heard. There is a sudden hiss of air as the first fly is thrown in practice. The fly cuts a ripple in the lake where it lands.

ed to remain undisturbed. Then another hiss and another cast. The evening's shadows grow longer.

Then! Over near the shore there is a ripple formed on the surface. The canoe edges in this direction. There is another ripple formed on the left, then on the right there is a splash. The trout rise has started. The hiss of the line follows the path of the eddies. A splash! A shout! The feverish winding of a reel. All break the calm. Moments of suspense, then the first catch is landed. Its dark silvery, speckled body shining in the evening light. The lines hiss again and again. The lake is alive with jumping fish and rippled waters. The air fills with the excited oaths of the fishermen. The fishing reaches its height then again slowly subsides. The ripples become fewer and the jumping ceases. All becomes as it had been but for the happy voices of the fishermen, who drag their canoe from the water and in the twilight head gaily homeward.

CHAMBER MUSIC

Three of the most famous composers of the great period of music which flourished during the first half of the 18th century will be featured by the McGill String Quartet and the assisting chamber ensemble at the fourth of the eight chamber music concerts being presented by the Montreal Festivals at the Hermitage. This fourth event in the series is to take place on Friday, January 31, at 9 p.m.

The first half of the program will be devoted to three of Handel's Twelve Grand Concerti, which are being presented in their entirety at the concert under the direction of Alexander Brott. Concertos scheduled for Friday evening are the No. 7 in B flat major, the No. 8 in C minor and the No. 9 in F major. The seventh Handel is novel in that it introduces a hornpipe into the severely classical realm of the concerto grosso.

In the second half of the program concertos by two Italian composers will be featured. One of them is the Concerto in A minor by Antonio Vivaldi, the other the Concertino in F major by Giovanni Battista Pergolesi, a work rarely performed in public. The Vivaldi concerto is regarded as one of the finest examples of its kind, one that Johann Sebastian Bach so admired that he transcribed it for organ.

Pergolesi, who was among the most gifted composers of the period, died 1736 in his 26th year, a loss that has been mourned ever since as a blow to the development of music. Chamber music played only a small role in Pergolesi's creative work. The Neapolitan is chiefly remembered as the composer of the comic opera, La Serva Padrona, which is still in the operatic repertory today and which created a veritable revolution in operatic art after its production in Naples in 1733.

If this be so? I ask. Why isn't our McGill in on this I.S.S. deal? Come on, boys! opportunities like this don't knock on your door every day.

Incidentally, what ever happened to the negotiations on this matter between Dutch and McGill officials last summer?

Y.M.H.A. Trounces Dawson In Cage Game

Bloomfield, Waxman Run Riot To Protect First Place Position

By SCOOP PEARL

Dawson College's Senior Montreal Basketball League championship hopes were dealt a severe blow last night as a superior and still unbeaten Y.M.H.A. crew outscored and outplayed the homesters to the extent of a 38-41 score, before a record breaking capacity crowd of over 1,300 onlookers. Led by eagle-eyed David "Doodie" Bloomfield and league high scorer Murray Waxman who equally divided 30 markers, the blue clad outfit were in the lead throughout seven-eighths of the wild and woolly encounter. Referees Ulley and Klair who handled the game in an efficient manner were forced to call 25 personal fouls. The closely checked Kenny Taylor managed to get loose for 13 points while McGill reinforcements Bobby Duford and Phil Weisberg counted a combined 14 markers.

Above is Ken Taylor who led Dawson point makers in last night's loss to Y.M.H.A.

ROMPIN THOUGHT
Sparkplugged by an effective passing attack and scoring punch around the basket the Abramowitz coached quintet drew first blood when scoring was opened by Bloomfield's basket in the first 30 seconds of play. After an aggressive display which saw Dikofsky and Ken Taylor sink baskets the Dawsonites jumped into a 6-3 lead which marked the only time in the game in which they were ahead. The 2,600 eyes were brought wide open after the fast breaking Y aggregation jumped back into a lead which they never lost. Spearheaded by Waxman and Bloomfield the visitors had a 32-23 half time lead. Checking was again close upon resumption of play in the last 20 minutes with Dikofsky, Bloomfield and Waxman potting the leather sphere from all angles. Outstanding defensive play was shown by Duford and Weisberg with the former sinking four important baskets. With the score 52-33 at the refs. time out the Dawsonites put on a delayed attack with McGillian Duford and Kenny Taylor sinking pairs of baskets, final score Y.M.H.A. 58-Dawson 41.

A big shove and gravity. Although Montreal has been having tropical temperatures for the last week and the weather-man has ruddy mixed up his dates, he is to be foiled despite this unexpected thaw. The McGill Outing Club's Annual Toboggan party at the Park Slide on top of Mount Royal is to be held as scheduled.

SLEIGH AND SWEIGH!

Whether you like it hot or cold, some are going to be luke-warm and combine, both, tickets entitling you to engage in any or all of the following activities may be obtained at one dollar a couple from George, Walter or Fred. Also, TODAY, booths have been set up in the Arts, Union and Engineering buildings at which you may procure same.

Item (1): The opportunity for you to exceed the legal speed limit of 40 m.p.h. and, at the same time, to have the pleasure of holding a beautiful creature in your arms with no objections on her part is yours. This is all on account of man's improvisations on old nature by the erection of a trestle atop the hill to give you a breathtaking run down the mountain side.

Item (2): for confirmed skiers and skaters, excellent open slopes and a rink are available.

Item (3): Music provided by some of the best bands on this continent, will be offered in the Park Slide Club House which is to be your home away from home for the hours of 8.00 until 1.00 on Friday evening, Jan. 31st (that is). Whether you are drifting in from the hill, discarding ski-boots, sweaters, etc. as you enter, or whether you are rounding out the evening after the concert in R.V.C., all are welcome, and here is a great chance to participate in some really enjoyable, healthy, out-of-door sports.

A good time is guaranteed for all, food is to be supplied at a slight extra charge, and don't miss these hills, thrills and spills. Lucky!

P.S. To correct the two erroneous impressions which appeared in yesterday's Daily, January 29th. (1) Those who claim a double header toboggan to be a two-seater are "lying", and (2) Naturally the committee members' feel point out when they remove their ski boots.

Red Mermen In C.A.S.A. Meet This Sat.

"Water-Wings", the perennial swim champ, announces that there are big things in store for McGill swimmers Saturday night, February 1st, at the NDG Pool where the Redmen will vie for honors with many of the city's all stars in the important Canadian Amateur Swimming Association meet. McGill has a good chance to repeat last year's win with such stars as diver George Athans, Halford and Errington in the breast-stroke, Hope and Stan Christie in the back-stroke, middle-distance star Elliott Young, who starred in the meet with Troy in the U.S., and sprinters Fullerton, Quayle, Elder, and Cooper, as well as capable Manny Hoffman, Norm Ashton and Ernie Taylor.

AQUA DANCE

The C.A.S.A. is sponsoring a dance to raise funds to send swimmers to England for the future Olympic Games. The Dance is to be held Friday, January 31 at Victoria Hall with Johnny Holmes' Band. Admission is $3 a couple. Tickets may be obtained from the swimming team or Gerry Cooper, MA. 9094. Many McGill boys will benefit from this dance.

Round Robin Tourney In Badminton At Gym

Mixed badminton enthusiasts who are planning to play tonight at Currie Gym will have to postpone their activities until some future evening. The gym is being used for the Malczynski concert and all sports have been cancelled. However, a men's doubles Round Robin tournament will be run off Friday, January 31.

Tight-fisted entrants in this competition will be glad to know that no fee is required and, with the exception of those playing on Intercollegiate or Murray League teams, all are eligible to compete. Play is expected to get underway about 8.00 p.m. and entries will be received from 7.30 on. For those friendless players, partners will be supplied from a stock-pile reserved for this purpose. Matches will be conducted on a round robin basis with each team playing one 15 point game with every other team. The twosome with the highest total point score for the night will be declared winner and will receive one dozen badminton birds for their efforts.

If present plans materialize a Mixed Doubles tourney on the same lines will be held in the near future.

DILEMMA CORNER

By Blaine Hebdon

Things are really getting tough when men have to stand up on the buses.

We are going to have an awfully grim time at college in the future if the response to women's athletics continues to be as poor as it is at the present time. We are referring to the very poor support that the basketball team received at their recent match against the Y.W.C.A.

Even though this event was well publicized and our team is "Red Hot," there were few spectators on hand to witness their victory over one of the city's crack teams. The majority of the audience was composed of Phys. Ed. men who were brought out through fair means or foul, to come out and cheer for the ladies of their dreams. Surely we can do better than that! Where is the college spirit that we have been hearing about? Does it, or does it not exist? We are waiting to be shown. . . .

Speaking of attendance at college activities, reminds us that a bigger and better Athletic night is scheduled to take place on Friday night. Teams from out of town are being brought in so that students will have a chance to witness top flight teams in basketball and squash, as

ONE UP . . .

TONY BLACKWOOD

The McGill Intermediate basketballers came through in fine style last night as they soundly trounced Georgians, 47-27. In a regular league game at the Currie gymnasium.

EASY WIN

The contest was just about as easy for the Redmen as the score would indicate, and at no time did they lose control of the situation. At time play was rather ragged, but for the most part good fast ball was served up for the handful of customers who strayed in from the senior match to watch the seconds.

The high scoring McGillians were out for victory from the opening whistle, and quickly went into a lead which was only once briefly relinquished in the first half. Georgians managed to keep close to their opponents for a while, but it soon developed that they were no match for our squad, and the close of the half showed them on the wrong end of a 22-12 count.

From the beginning of the second stanza it was obvious that it was all over for the boys from Drummond Street, for they sagged

ONE DOWN . . .

By BOB USHER

They've done it before, they did it again, and from what was seen last evening they will do it many more times.

We are, of course, talking about the smooth U. of M. Intermediate basketball squad which last night took a fighting Dawson team into camp by a 35-31 score on the St. Johns' cagers home floor.

With Adolf "Duff" Legare and Paul Chevreton in the lead the flying Frenchmen from over the hill managed to keep their league-leading position which they have held since the first few games. They now have a record of only having lost one game in their past seven attempts and this loss was only by one point. On the Red and Blue side of the ledger, Ellie Godel turned in a top-notch effort sinking many long shots and coming out as high scorer of the match with 12 points. Also outstanding for the Holmes boys were Brian Laing and Lorry Brown who each put in a good game at guard.

FAST ACTION

The game opened with a Dawson basket by Collin McKinnon which was quickly followed by one from the U. of M. boys. This is how the play went all through the first half. By the time that the period whistle had blown the St. Johns team found themselves on the top half of a 17-14 score. Showing up well in this half were captain Johnny Rochon of the Blue and Gold basketballers and Frank Ramsay of the Holmes bunch.

The second half saw a rejuvenated Montreal team hit the floor which with Legare in the lead racked up 21 points to overcome the St. John's lead coming out in final victory with 35-31 mark.

Guy LaRochelle, U. of M's seasonal top scorer turned in a good showing with 6 points.

This game showed much rough play resulting in 13 penalties for the city squad and 7 for the home team. Altogether the double-header held last night will undoubtedly increase the marks of the students at Dawson for this term. We say this because of many remarks heard before and during the game mentioning "books and bookies."

"Peace, eminence and honest friendship with all nations. . . . tangle alliances with none."

Athletics Night

Gymnastic Team Vies With T.C.S.

On Saturday night, Feb. 1, in conjunction with the other athletic events, McGill's gymnasts will display their prowess over the gymnasts from Trinity College School. Such a boast, in the past, could not be made beforehand without some careful thinking. However, today we can brag because we have a highly skilled and experienced group of performers to back us up. Many of our men have worked and practised constantly at this sport for years, and have become proficient at it to a high degree.

SWINGIN' THE BARS

Mention need only be made of these men: John Foster, a very keen and ardent gymnast, is the Quebec Senior champion. John, you may know, is also well versed in the art of ski jumping. Another man of renown is Doug Marsland who hails from Victoria, B.C. Doug is considered the best gymnast on the West coast, and all will agree, who have seen him perform, that his feats on the various pieces of apparatus are remarkable and amazing. Our next celebrity is Hadley Armstrong, who holds the title of Ontario Junior champion. As well as these stars, we have other members in the persons of Jack King, Don Cochrane, Terry Leslie, Frank Barrett and Art Henderson, who although they have not made a name for themselves, are excellent performers.

The Trinity College School Gym Team can be classified as having the best Prep Gym Team in Canada. Since 1925, when the last competition between T.C.S., Upper Canada College, Ridley and St. Andrews was held, T.C.S. has been so much better than these other schools that none have dared challenge her. Only last year a Meet was arranged between these four schools. The only opponent to turn up against Trinity was St. Andrews, and the first five places in this Meet were won by T.C.S.

In other competitions with Toronto schools, T.C.S. has always carried off top honors. Led by their outstanding coach, Maj. S. J. Batt, the record set by these boys has been an enviable one.

Anyone who has never witnessed a gymnastic meet should endeavor to see this. Thrills, graceful body movements and a fine display of muscular co-ordination will not be lacking.

The enthusiasm shown by the numerous ping-pong fans of Dawson gives promise that the current tournament which starts operation on Monday will be one of the most active in the college history. While the last details are nearing completion, the organizer, Lou Satov, is being deluged by late entries. In order to be ready for any amount of spectators, the tables will be so arranged as to permit every body to see the games. Because our table tennis impresario feels that he should be given a chance to complete his schedule, he asks every one wishing to join, to register before five, Friday, January 31. Redmen Chalmers, Smith, Franks and Smythe each scored twice, while Georgian stars were Adams and Bramford with two markers each. Senior Pucksters Face Toronto
In Crucial Contest This Friday

TONY DUNCAN

Dave Campbell's rampaging senior puck squad invades Varsity Arena this Friday to engage the Toronto Blues in a game that may decide which of the two teams will be the Intercollegiate hockey champs for this year.

Toronto, as usual, is the main obstacle in McGill's march to the championship. At present the Redmen lead the league with eight points, followed by Varsity with six. If McGill, by some queer turn of fate, lost Friday's tilt the Toronto pucksters would jump into a first place tie.

PUCK PUSHERS

As far as players are concerned, Ed Kryzanowski, Varsity captain, is a rough and tumble man of the "old school" on defence. Don Bark

Some of his long shots were very pretty to watch, and one in particular in the second frame was a (to slip into the vernacular) real "doozer." Hodge was another power on the Red team, and his effective guarding broke up many a Georgian rush. Other stars for the McGillians were Fitzgerald, Murray, Lanier and Elio, all of whom played standout games.

The gang from 'Sir George' were fronted by McLeod who garnered in 8 points to be the high man for his squad, and who played a standout game in addition, and Macintosh, a lanky lad who was always in there for the rebounds. All in all, then, the game was well worth watching, and the spectators seemed to enjoy the type of ball exhibited by the two teams.

FIGURE GLIDING
We are pleased to report that a new club is being organized at McGill. All those interested in figure skating will want to learn that an organizational meeting will be held in Room 12 of R.V.C. tomorrow noon at 1:15 p.m. If the response is large enough, there is a chance that a coach may be hired. In the meantime, the more experienced skaters will give instruction to the less skilled members of the club. It has been decided by the organizers that the club will only be formed if there is sufficient support and enthusiasm backing it. This means that it is all up to you!

Other news among the skaters concerns our future female version of the "Canadiens", namely our hockey team! As soon as the ice is back again, practices will be resumed. In case anyone is unfamiliar with this set-up, Bill Orban puts the coeds through their paces on Tuesday and Friday afternoons from 3:00-5:00 p.m. at the MacTavish street rink. A match against Queen's is definitely scheduled to take place, although the date has not been decided yet.
